Firstly, I would like to thank RPGFan for giving me a chance to review this game. Now to the review. 1) Game play This game has elements of a RPG game and elements of the classic RPG game, where you have to fight and create your own route through the dungeons. Your goal here is simple, make your name as an Elden Lord. To achieve your goal you need to equip different weapons and armors, and you also need different types of magic, each with their own strengths and weaknesses. However, you can easily customize your weapons and armors so that no matter what enemies you are facing, you can easily defeat them. You can even combine weapons and armors to make your own weapons. It may be a lot of fun to create your own equipment, and the equipment you wear will greatly affect how you fight. A huge reason for this game to be so popular is its unlimited customization. You can equip as many weapons and armors as you want and customize them in any way you want. This game is full of many surprises and new ways to discover them. It is full of challenge and fun. 2) Graphics and Sound The graphics are simple and bland. The game is suitable for people who don't like complicated graphics, or for people who don't want to see too many details. The background music is different each time you enter a new zone, which is very refreshing. 3)

Content On top of the gameplay, a huge game world with a variety of different locations and dungeons for you to explore. More quests are also waiting for you to start. You can gain lots of rewards by collecting items. If you are able to collect a lot of items and complete the missions that are assigned to you, you can level up and gain more powerful equipment and magic for your use, thus increasing your strength for battles. You can also buy and sell items from other players, and buy up to 10 items at a time. Apart from the main story, there are also side story quests to do, such as the hunting quests or fishing quests. 4) Replayability As the game uses a very interesting approach, where your current grade determines how your equipment. So you can freely exchange your equipment through leveling up. You can also buy equipment for cash at the store. 5) Control bff6bb2d33
